Welcome

July 2019

CYO Community,

The Catholic Youth Organization of the Diocese of Brooklyn and Queens is proud to announce a new initiative that will enhance your experience with the CYO Diocesan Community. We are implementing a direct registration policy as the athlete’s first step in the Diocesan CYO Registration process beginning with the 2019-2020 Season.

This will be a simple online process (visit our website www.cyodob.org for complete details). The $10.00 CYO Membership Fee will be collected as part of the online registration policy and will include the following benefits:

- Easier access to participate in each sport offered within the Diocese of Brooklyn/Queens CYO
- Direct notification of special events and opportunities within the CYO and Diocesan Communities
- Special Discounts with CYO partnered professional and college sports teams as they arise
- Special Discounts with CYO partnered vendors including, Modell’s Sporting Goods, BJ’s Wholesale Club and many more
- All members will be entered into annual CYO Raffles for special gifts and prizes as well as scholarship opportunities. (See Raffle Prize List in this issue of the CYO Newsletter)
- Quarterly CYO newsletter and Play Like A Champion Today tutorials and notes

This registration will also allow the CYO Staff better administer the eligibility process, present you with important faith education opportunities, and strengthen your identification with both your parish and the diocese.

Registration is still required with your parish of eligibility to participate in a specific sport at a local parish. Once the athlete has the required CYO Membership Number, the parish athletic representative will be able to assist you with any part of the registration process should you have any difficulty. The CYO diocesan office may be reached at the number listed above or email info@cyodob.org for any further clarification.

Thank you for your cooperation,

Robert Caldera

Executive Director, CYO
The sixth annual Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) Hall of Fame ceremony recognized nine deserving individuals who dedicated their lives to youth sports in the Diocese of Brooklyn.

The event was held at the Immaculate Conception Center, Douglaston, on May 31, and honored individuals who have made significant contributions to CYO as a player, coach, clergy member, coordinator, official, parish representative, athletic director or other member of the community.

The award ceremony followed a Mass in the chapel celebrated by Auxiliary Bishop Witold Mroziewski. The evening always features several special awards to recognize those who have dedicated their lives to CYO sports.

American Martyrs, Bayside, won the Kevin Mahoney Sportsmanship Award; Daniel Scarpulla received the Bobby Cummings Memorial Award; and eighth-grader Sophia Elizabeth Leslie from Our Lady of the Snows Catholic Academy, North Floral Park, won the Carol O’Connell Aim High Scholarship Award through the CYO Essay Contest. She received a $1,000 grant toward her tuition to St. Francis Prep, Fresh Meadows.

The Msgr. John Brown Memorial CYO Role Model Award was presented to Chris Frazier of St. Rose of Lima, Rockaway Beach, for his commitment and dedication to the mission and values of the CYO.

The following honorees entered the CYO Hall of Fame class of 2019, bringing the total number of Hall of Fame inductees to 67:

When the CYO basketball team at St. Adalbert, Elmhurst, was formed over 40 years ago, Jerry Bologna was a member of the team. He continued playing on the Junior and Senior division teams through 1967.

In addition to playing, he began coaching at the parish and continued through 1983. In 1972, he started the parish’s intramural basketball program. He later served for a few years as the parish’s basketball athletic director.

Upon moving to St. Mary Winfield, Woodside, Bologna continued coaching Novice boys’ basketball through the 2000 season. In 2015, he returned to St. Adalbert to coach. He also spent time as a CYO basketball referee and a member of the International Association of Approved Basketball Officials (IAAABO).

Right after being ordained a priest on May 27, 1967, Msgr. John Bracken was named the moderator of the CYO program at St. Francis de Sales, Belle Harbor. The sports program soon became the center of parish life under his direction.

Starting with just five CYO boys’ basketball teams, Msgr. Bracken added girls’ basketball and an intramural in-house program, which allowed all who wished to participate the opportunity to play. The program grew to more than 50 teams per year. Later, baseball, softball, swimming and track were added to the fold.

Msgr. Bracken moved on to St. Teresa of Avila, Crown Heights, and Our Lady Help of Christians, Midwood, where he oversaw the expansion of those CYO programs. He then served as diocesan vicar of Queens and vicar of temporal affairs.

When her seven-year-old daughter, Cassondra, wanted to join cheerleading at St. Stan’s, Maspeth, Lorraine Calandrillo immediately got involved with the parish’s sports association as an assistant cheer coach. She soon took over the program as head coach and then director.

For the next 20 years, St. Stan’s program grew into one of the largest programs of any CYO sport. Four years ago, Calandrillo was instrumental in initiating the CYO Cheerleading Showcase, which has become a spring staple for CYO cheer teams to display their enthusiasm and spirit for their sport.

Sadly, Calandrillo died on Oct. 25, 2018 after being diagnosed with cancer several months earlier. Her memory and impact will live on.

As parish athletic representative (PAR) at St. Mary Gate of Heaven, Ozone Park, Louis “Big Lou” Elrose was a fixture at the parish as a sports official. He volunteered for the intramural program and in 1984 became a certified IAAABO referee.

In 1990, he became a softball umpire. Elrose was a member of the N.Y.C. Board of Officials for both sports. In 35 years, he officiated contests for the CHSAA and PSAL and for local colleges.

As parish athletic representative (PAR) at St. Mary Gate of Heaven, Elrose was able to watch all three of his children play in the parish’s sports program. His kids have followed in his footsteps and have given back to the CYO.

Frank Kirchoff’s involvement with CYO has been a more-than-40-year journey that began at St. Andrew Avellino, Flushing, where in 1978 he rejuvenated the parish’s Saturday morning intramural sports program.

He coached both his daughter and son’s teams, and even after they aged out of the program, he has continued to coach for the past 20 years. He also was a member of the Athletic Associating Board for over 30 years, serving as president for 20 of those years at St. Andrew.

Kirchoff began “Team Masses” at the parish, an ongoing tradition in which CYO athletes wear their sports uniforms as they attend Mass as a team and receive a special blessing from the priest.

Michael LoCascio Sr. has seen and done it all when it comes to CYO. Starting 50 years ago, he played sports for St. Brigid, Wyckoff Heights, and Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal, Ridgewood. He later coached and served as an official, as well.

For over 30 years, LoCascio has served as PAR at St. Stan’s, Maspeth, where he remains very involved in many facets of parish life.

He’s also coached girls’ basketball in the local GCHSAA. After a stint as an assistant for diocesan powerhouse and his high school alma mater Christ the King H.S., Middle Village, he is now the head varsity coach at St. John’s Prep, Astoria, and recently won this year’s ‘A’ Division diocesan crown.
Following a decorated three-letter sports career at St. Francis Prep, Williamsburg, Phil McBride Sr. initiated sports at several diocesan parishes in the early 1950s through tournaments he ran for the Catholic War Veterans. In 1960, he founded the CYO program at St. Stan’s, Maspeth, and became its athletic director. He oversaw the creation of a soccer program as well as of girls’ basketball and softball teams.

In the 1960s, he helped establish the South West Deanery Athletic Directors to unite those CYO parishes. The group organized All-Star games and free-throw shooting contests. When CYO created the position of PAR in 1967, McBride became the first one at St. Stan’s and was asked to serve on the Bishop’s CYO Council on Athletics.

He later volunteered to coach at St. Ann’s, Flushing, and soon took over the parish’s basketball program. He passed away in 1980 and was inducted posthumously into the CYO Hall of Fame, where he joins his son, 2015 inductee Phil McBride Jr.

Nancy Motto first participated in CYO basketball at St. Barbara, Bushwick, where she won the free-throw shooting contests while in fourth and fifth grades. During her junior year of high school at Christ the King, she moved to Middle Village, where she played CYO basketball at St. Margaret, 1968-1971.

After playing three years of basketball at Molloy College, Rockville Centre, L.I., and embarking on a 32-year career for the Social Security Administration, she still found time to coach both basketball and softball at St. Margaret for over 30 years.

Motto also served as basketball athletic director and softball athletic director at St. Margaret. She was honored in 2011 with the Metro Classic Lifetime Achievement Award for her 31 years as a coach, athletic director and mentor.

At St. Joseph, Astoria, Mary Stanis began her involvement with CYO by playing volleyball in the fifth grade. She later was a member of the first-ever volleyball team at St. Agnes H.S., College Point.

In the early 1980s, she started directing the volleyball program at St. Joseph. For over 30 years, the program has remained strong in displaying the mission and values of CYO.

During that time, Stanis also served as the CYO diocesan program director for volleyball. Volleyball remains her favorite sport, whether it be CYO, CHSAA, beach,

The 2019 CYO Summer Basketball League season began on Monday June 17, 2019. We wish the best of luck to all teams participating this year.

The CYO of the Diocese of Brooklyn/Queens, Diocese of Rockville Centre and The Archdiocese of New York is proud to announce its partnership on creating the Inter-Diocesan Basketball Post Season Tournament. The Inaugural Event will be held in March 2020 in which each of the Local Diocesan Semi-Finalists (Final 4 teams) in the Rookie and Intermediate Divisions (Division I "AA" boys and girls) will participate in the 12 team tournament featuring teams from each diocese.

The CYO Executive Directors in each diocese, Robert Caldera (Brooklyn/Queens), Paul Echausse (Rockville Centre) and Seth Peloso (New York) will be working together organizing this Inter-Diocesan Event. Complete details will be announced throughout the upcoming basketball season.
PLAY LIKE A CHAMPION TODAY

CHAMPION SPORTS PARENTS GUIDELINES AND REFLECTION

CYO Parents and Guardians,

Playing sports should be a fun, enjoyable experience for all children involved. Playing sports can contribute greatly to your child’s psychological and physical development. As parents, it is your duty to make sure that your child’s youth sport experience is playful and building the spirit of a true Champion. You cannot do this alone. You must work with your child, your child’s coach, other parents, and athletic administrators in your parish and community. Your responsibility as a parent does not end with your own child. As parents, we need to care for all the athletes on the team. Additionally, we must care for children in other parish communities and neighborhoods who may not have the same opportunities to play in a safe and nurturing environment.

Like a Champion - A Champion is not necessarily someone with extraordinary athletic ability or someone who wins games for their team. Playing like a champion means bringing one’s best self to each practice and game. It means playing with complete effort and attention, working with one’s teammates, playing with respect for one’s self, team, opponents and officials. A champion is someone who performs to their full potential. Every child can be a Champion, a Champion of Jesus Christ.

Please take a few moments to consider and answer the following questions:

1. What is your own experience with athletics?
2. What have sports contributed to your life?
3. What are you hoping that your child will take from her or his youth sport experiences?

Try to think about youth sports from the perspective of our children:

4. How do they feel in practice and games?
5. When they are being cheered or maybe booed?
6. When they are encouraged or criticized?

Being a parent of a child involved in sports presents us with a special opportunity to help our children grow through their sport experience. Reflect on what lessons we might learn from our child-athletes by answering the following questions:

7. How can we make sports fun for our children?
8. How can we regularly and effectively ask our children about how they are thinking and feeling about their sports experience?
“Parents are children’s first and foremost influential teachers”

You can become a Champion Sports Parent, one who supports their child’s athletic journey by guiding them to their individual best. Game Day Behavior and the Parent/Coach relationship are essential to the overall experience for all children in youth sports:

- Fostering a sense of respect for the rules of sports and fair play
- Making sure that my child is having fun as a member of the team

Parents and Spectators:

- May not yell any form of criticism
- May not make derogatory comments
- May not use profanity, taunt, criticize or jeer
- May never approach a player, coach, spectator, official, league administrator, or site coordinator at any time before, during or after a game to question or comment negatively

Once parents understand how to be a Champion Sports parents with their own child, they must understand how best to relate to the larger sport program and community. This includes recognizing how their behavior at sporting events affects others. Champion sports parents also need to foster a positive relationship with their child’s coach, officials, and other parents.

When parents act negatively or abusively, demanding and demeaning others during sporting events, they create a toxic environment that is harmful to their own child, to all athletes and the entire CYO program. There are clear standards for appropriate behavior for parents and spectators at their child’s athletic event:

- Making encouraging and positive statements to the players
- Cheering for good plays made by both teams during the game
- Treating officials with courtesy and respecting their calls while understanding their position
- Congratulating the opponent on a good game
- Being a gracious host at home games
- Thanking the coach and officials after the game

Pope Francis says:

“Sport is not only a form of entertainment, but also – and above all I would say – a tool to communicate values that promote the good that is in humans and help build a more peaceful and fraternal society”

Children are extremely impressionable, making it critical for parents to control their behavior at sporting events. How parents behave on the sidelines directly affects how their children will act later in life.

We hope your children have a thriving youth sport journey guided by Champion coaches and positive sport parents.
Sports are competitive. The game cannot be played unless the competitors try their best to win. Yet we need to keep in mind that, for every team that wins, there is a team that loses. Winning and losing are outcomes.

Competition comes from the Latin cumpetere meaning “striving with.”

Competition is not opposed to cooperation, it is a form of cooperation. One’s competitors are not one’s enemies. Real competition brings out the best on both teams. Thus, competition can be fun, win or lose.

Sports become less competitive when the outcome becomes more important than the activity—when winning becomes more important than playing fairly. Coaches who “stack” their teams, encourage their players to bend the rules, and disrespect their opponents and the officials do not really love the game, nor do they love competition.

Youth sport coaches cannot exercise their ministry if they put winning ahead of competing and developing each player. Coaches encourage their players’ development by helping them become aware of what they can and cannot control in sports.

Points to Consider:

- Put the children first!!! Remember: If children are to develop a love of a game, the game must belong to them. The role of the coach is to initiate children into the skills, strategies, rules, and traditions of the game so that children will come to love the game and direct their own play.
- Make practices fun. Teach skills in ways that are non-threatening and fun, so that children enjoy team practices and will want to practice on their own. Avoid repetitive drills and routines that involve only some children.
- Give children choices. Allow children to make as many decisions as possible while protecting children from physical and social harm and guiding them in caring for each other and learning the sport.
American Martyrs held their annual sports award dinner this past weekend (June 2019). Every athlete received a certificate and each team gave out a few trophies including their sportsmanship awards. Athletic Director Danny Bacci gave a speech about how far the program has come in the last few years, and he presented and shared the Kevin Mahoney Sportsmanship Award with everyone in attendance. Graduating 8th graders received recognition for their participation in CYO. Special recognition was also given to athletes that participate in 4 or more CYO sports.

American Martyrs also gave out 3 special awards - 2 for Outstanding Perseverance to two girls in the program who returned to sports this year following major surgery and hospital stays. The other special award was the first annual Ray Fortune Award for Dedication and Leadership, which was given to one of our graduating 8th graders who played on 3 CYO teams, was the team captain on all 3 teams, never missed a game or practice, and was the was a junior assistant coach for her siblings teams. Her level of commitment to herself and her team was something Mr. Fortune instilled in his children growing up, and it is so very hard to find today. She was a shy, insecure, awkward girl when she joined the program as a 6th grader, and now she’s a strong, confident, incredible athlete and student, graduating the gifted & talented program with a 99% average.

Dear Parents:

This is the chance you have been waiting for — a chance to create more supervised activity for your children — a chance to meet the people who supervise your child’s sports activities — a chance to fight juvenile delinquency.

We are happy to announce the formation of the St. Stanislaus Sports Club on Friday evening, June 17th, 8:30 P.M. in the School Hall. We need help badly. There are jobs for everyone, no matter how little free time you have.

Come down and hear what we can and will do for our parish with your support.

Sincerely yours,

Philip McBride
President

Holy Family Wins, Ties As Klos Shines on Hill

The Holy Family Division basketball team put two former winners on the back burner. In recent years they had been defeated by the Lady of Lourdes, 25-20, and the Lady of St. Stanislaus, 25-15, but this year they came back to take the first place in the league.

Holy Family’s success was the result of several factors. The team was led by a veteran guard, Jack Klos, who had played for the team the previous year. Klos’s scoring ability and teamwork were key to the team’s success. The Holy Family team was also helped by the defensive skills of Bob Smith and Tom Gaffney, who held their opponents to a low-scoring game.

Yarborough Finishes First

MAYFIELD, Md. — Earl T. Yarborough of Mayfield, Md. has won the Mayfield High School basketball championship for the third time in his career. Yarborough, a senior, scored 30 points in the championship game, helping his team to a 65-50 victory.
